The University of Central Oklahoma's Transportation & Parking Services department (TPS) would like to announce the launching of its new parking management software, T2 Flex and eBiz. This new software will not only help TPS better serve the students, faculty/staff, and visitors of UCO, but will help the department streamline a lot of its processes and better see what is needed to improve the parking and transportation needs of the university long-term. Students, faculty/staff, and visitors will utilize eBiz, which is accessible from the TPS website (www.uco.edu/parking) in order to manage their parking account, pay citations, appeal citations, and purchase a permit which can now be done online year round.

Logging In: Go to www.uco.edu/parking and just below the navigation screen you will see “UCO eBiz” which has four options: My Parking Account, Purchase Permit, Pay Citation, and Appeal Citation. Click on the one most appropriate for what you are looking for (Note, My Parking Account will allow you to do all of these things). When you login, you will use your UCONNECT login/password if you are a student, and for faculty/staff, you will use your computer login/password. If you are not affiliated with the university, you will need to click “guest login” and create an account.

Once logged in, you will be able to do several things you were not able to do under our old system including: paying citations online, and adding vehicles, addresses, emails, and phone numbers to your account. You will be able to purchase a parking permit online year-round (although it will still need to be picked up at the TPS office). You will also be able to appeal a ticket under our new format, and an exciting new feature, you will be able to see the pictures the parking enforcement officers took with the citation that was given to you. You will also be able to see the letters sent to you via email about appeals, citations, and if you are on the tow list.

We are excited about this new software because it allows us to better serve the UCO community. If you have any questions or run into issues with eBiz, please contact us at 405-974-2780 or parking@uco.edu.
