UCO CMS Alum and CFACS Consultant Named OWDC District Chief

Captain Farrar was hired in 2003 as an ODWC Game Warden based in Oklahoma County. Since 2007, he has been based in Logan County, the past 3.5 years as a Lieutenant. The ODWC Law Enforcement Division is responsible for upholding the laws and regulations that protect Oklahoma's wildlife resources.

Captain Farrar was raised in Crescent and graduated from high school there in 1997. He originally wanted to attend medical school, and from 1998 to 2006, he served as a medic in the Air Force Reserve. It was during this time that he met Game Warden Joe Adair's son, who happened to be a fellow reservist. Adair's son suggested to Farrar that he should consider becoming a Game Warden, and that's what sparked his interest.

Captain Farrar graduated from UCO with a major in Biology in May 2002 and currently serves as an extramural consultant to C-FACS and to the W. Roger Webb Forensic Science Institute.

During his career, Farrar has served as Law Enforcement Division Honor Guard commander, Wildlife Youth Camp director, Game Warden liaison to the Oklahoma Emergency Management System, Law Enforcement representative for hunting and fishing regulations guide, and teacher of a Wildlife Law Enforcement class at Oklahoma State University.

Captain Farrar has extensive expertise in Oklahoma wildlife enforcement, conservation and protection. C-FACS faculty may contact Captain Farrar for OWDC guidance, assistance, and collaboration:
